

NELSON MANDELA CENTRE OF MEMORY

at the Nelson Mandela Foundation

Living the legacy

Posted 25 August 2011

One month ago, on July 18th people around the world celebrated Madiba's birthday by heeding the call to become part of the Nelson Mandela International Day movement for good. Individuals and organisations, from Presidential palaces to rural villages, worked with and within communities to help make the world a better place. These efforts began well before that auspicious day, and it is gratifying to see them continue. Thank you for your response. We know that you will continue to make every day a Mandela Day.

On July 23rd, Professor Ismail Serageldin, Director of Egypt's historic Alexandria Library addressed the 9th Nelson Mandela Annual Lecture. He was both acutely analytic about the changes sweeping across Africa, and truly inspiring in his call for our youth to continue being "positive change makers" in the spirit of Mandela Day. We thank those of you who made the time to attend or watch the Lecture.

These are some of the initiatives spearheaded by the Foundation's Nelson Mandela Centre Of Memory which works for social justice by promoting the vision, values and work of its Founder. Our ability to continue doing this, in keeping with Madiba's ethos of inclusivity and transparency, and remain an independent voice that provides a safe space for constructive dialogue, depends on contributions from friends like you.

Become part of the legacy. DONATE to the Nelson Mandela Centre of Memory.

Thank you for your support.
