New report: Global Europe 2050

Posted on September 10, 2012

The Global Europe 2050 foresight report presents and quantifies three scenarios that identify the main pathways Europe could follow in the coming decades:

- The Nobody cares scenario where Europe is in a “muddling through” process;
- the EU under threat where Europe is faced by a an economic decline and protectionist reactions;
- the European Renaissance where the EU continues to enlarge and become stronger with more efficient innovation systems.
