

University in Philippines and UNAOC to hold conference on the future of International Politics.

Posted on October 4, 2011

October 26, 2011 to October 28, 2011

The University of Asia & the Pacific's Institute of Political Economy, in collaboration with the UN Alliance of Civilizations, will hold a conference called "SHIFT – Shaping Insights and Forecasting Trends in Politics," October 26-28, 2011, at Pasig City, Philippines.

The international conference will draw graduate students, young scholars and other professions to form the foundations that would guide future imperatives in the study of international politics.

Topics covered will include civic education, culture and development, governance, human rights, international relations, migration, political economy and religion and politics.

Tweet

This entry was posted in Conferences & Seminars, Event Calendar Listing, Related Events, Research Network, Research Network News and tagged civic education, intercultural, Research Network, Youth. Bookmark the permalink.

[← Diversity, Citizenship and Social Inclusion at the Integration: Building Inclusive Societies
Forum in Melbourne
Paris: From Barbès to Hermès →](#)