

Digital Journalism Bootcamp

Posted on October 19, 2012

The United Nations Alliance of Civilizations and Google are excited to announce North Africa's first boot-camp on innovative and web journalism! We're looking for 20 journalists and bloggers from Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco with a passion for innovative journalism and learning about cutting edge technology.

The one-day workshop "Google Tools for News-gathering and Reporting Across Cultures" will feature sessions taught by world leaders in information technology from Google and a special seminar led by The World Bank Institute. It will take place on November 13, 2012 at the Institut de Presse & des Sciences de l'Information (IPSI) in Tunis.

How to apply: please email your CV to monica@unaoc.org to the attention of Monica Ayala-Talavera. The application deadline is October 31, 2012.

For more information please download this PDF.